

The Year-End Reflection Journal

a wobbly watercolour edition

twelve gentle pages to close your year with kindness

· with love, Artsydee ·

Welcome, lovely

December is a tired little month, and it does love to ask us to make everything perfect. This journal is the opposite of that. Over these pages you'll paint a few soft, wobbly watercolour motifs and answer a handful of gentle questions — a slow, kind way to look back on your year and drift into the next one. Nothing here needs to be neat. The wobble is the whole point.

the one wash technique

- ① Wet your brush and lift a little colour — more water than paint.
- ② Let it puddle onto the page and tilt it gently. Don't fuss.
- ③ While it's still damp, touch in a second colour and let them meet.
- ④ Walk away. Come back when it's dry. Paint over the pencil motif if you like.

A December palette

five soft colours for your reflection pages

Winter Sage

#96A88A · soft and misty

Holly

#4A684E · deep evergreen

Winterberry

#A63E3E · warm and festive

Candlelight Gold

#C9A24B · a cosy glow

Frost Blue

#8CA0AE · quiet and cool

A gentle guide, not a rule. Your paints, your water and your paper will make these colours beautifully your own — and that's exactly as it should be.

This year, in three words

Not the tidy ones — the true ones. What did this year actually feel like?

The wobbly things I'm proud of The imperfect wins count double. What are you quietly proud of?

Small joys I want to remember

The tiny ones. A warm mug, a good light, a kind message.

What I'm ready to set down

Some things can stay in this year. What are you gently putting down?

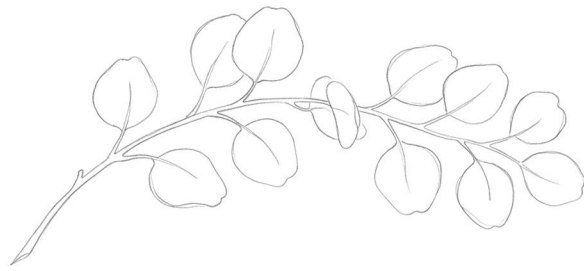

Thank you — my gratitude list

People, moments, small mercies. Fill the page as full as you like.

What I'd like more of next year

No resolutions. Just more of what makes you feel like you.

My one gentle intention

If the whole year had one soft word or wish, what would it be?

Paint along with me

a soft wash across the top, a few wobbly motifs, and your words

2026

Moments I want to keep

- _____
- _____
- _____

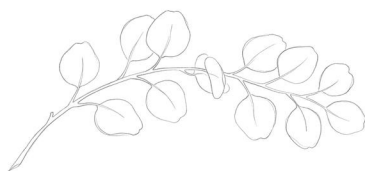

My year in three words

(flick white + gold here)

My one gentle intention

Come and paint with me

If these pages felt like a gentle breath, there's a whole slow, wonky world waiting for you at Artsydee — printable watercolour templates, cosy junk-journal kits, and a kind little community that believes wobbly is exactly right.

The Artsydee Creations Club

monthly kits, templates & workshops

The Wonky Watercolour School

Term Two starts Monday 11 January 2027 · join the waitlist

Free printables every week join 35,000+ makers on the newsletter

artsydee.com

pinterest.com/DeeArtsydee · youtube.com/@artsydee instagram.com/artsydee_inspiring_creations